Lead poisoning ravages Missouri, which provides over 95% of US lead.
St. Louis has child hood rates as high as 55% in some neighborhoods.
Lead reduces IQ, harms math and reading skills, and increases aggression.

Bob Lunsford of People At Risk will speak on lead contamination in rural areas and state-wide efforts toward clean-up.

Lee Blount, Jr. M.D. of Health & Environmental Justice will describe clean-up efforts in St. Louis and the health needs of suffering kids.
